

Affirmatively furthering fair housing

An Encouraging Conversation about housing justice.

The Huntingdon County Planning and Development Department is partnering with the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission (PHRC) to offer a FREE training and discussion on furthering fair housing opportunities in Huntingdon County. Learn from the fair housing team at PHRC about ways to stay in compliance with fair housing laws and promote equitable housing opportunities within your community. We all have a role to play in working towards fair housing – community members, housing providers, municipal leaders, realtors, lenders, social service providers and more!

This training will equip you with the knowledge to avoid discriminatory practices and support housing opportunities that enable all community members to thrive. We'll cover:

- How we got here: an overview of governmental policies and private practices that led to the need for fair housing protections
- Discriminatory practices and policies
- How to handle reasonable accommodation requests from individuals with disabilities
- Building partnerships and promoting housing opportunities in your communities
- Fair Housing resources to help you succeed

This will be an interactive session, so bring your questions and prepare to learn!

EQUAL HOUSING
OPPORTUNITY

Details:

This training will be held on
September 21, 2022, 1-3pm

Bailey Building Ballroom
233 Penn Street
Huntingdon, PA 16652

RSVP:

An RSVP by September 16, 2022 is not required, but is encouraged. You can RSVP by phone at 814-643-5091

Questions:

Contact Jayann Leibley
Jleibley@huntingdoncounty.net or 814-643-5091